NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our judgment it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion that we use this new invention ourselves and recommend it to all users. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

PATENT SINCH FASTENER!

CAN BE USED ON PACK, RIDING AND SIDE Saddles. A child can tighten a girth that will lift a saddle on a horse—can tighten up the girth with ease. It is very simple in construction, never gets out of repair, is safe, convenient and stays tight for months at the time used.

State, Territorial and County Rights for sale. For the Pacific States and Territories address O. H. HORNE, Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon. At the East address J. W. GEARHART, care of Messrs. [illegible] & Co., by & Ballard, Newark, N. J.

We respectfully refer to the following:

Having examined the New Patent Saddle, Belly Band Fastener invented by O. H. Horne of Astoria, Oregon, we take pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is one of the easiest, quickest and best methods of tightening a saddle girth that has ever been in use. It also has an advantage over all others in use in being able to tighten your saddle girth without dismounting.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN DATES TO MARCH 29

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—In the Senate, Cole presented a memorial from the heirs of [illegible] for compensation for property taken by the Government during the war. It was referred to the Committee on Claims.

Chandler from the Committee on Commerce reported a substitute for the House joint resolution declaratory of the intent of the income tax law. It continues the tax this year at five per cent. and next year at 2 per cent.

Wilson from the Committee on Military Affairs reported, without amendment, a bill to relinquish the interest of the United States in certain lands in the city of San Francisco.

On motion of Sherman the bill for the appointment of a special Commissioner of [illegible] was laid over by the casting vote of the Vice President.

Carpenter's resolution forbidding the departure of the new Spanish gunboats from New York and Thurman's calling for information in the Yerger case, (both offered some time ago) were also laid over.

The morning hour expired and the Chair announced that the committee report in the case of General Ames would be the business in order.

Sherman moved to suspend for the present all prior orders for the purpose of taking up the resolution to discharge the Judiciary Committee from the further consideration of the Texas bill.

A discussion ensued during which Trumbull characterized the motion as a gross act of discourtesy toward the Judiciary Committee for which there was neither justification nor necessity.

Sherman disclaimed any intention to cast reproach upon the Committee, but the political and national necessities of the case were such that he was not to be deterred from duty by a mere question of etiquette. The majority of the Senate felt that the Texas bill should be acted upon immediately in order that the proclamation of the adoption of the 15th amendment might be issued and that great question forever settled.

Trumbull replied that if the Senator and those voting with him had stood by him (Trumbull) the proclamation might have been made days ago.

Finally both propositions of Sherman's motion were carried and the bill was read. The last proviso that the act shall not effect in any manner the conditions and guarantees upon which the State was originally admitted was stricken out. The bill was then passed without discussion by a party vote.

The Senate went into executive session.

The bill allowing the United States Judge of the Eastern District of Texas to resign and continuing his salary and providing for his successor was taken up and passed.

Morrill, from the Committee on Appropriations reported with amendments the navy deficiency bill. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—In the House Mr Paine, from the Election Committee, reported adversely on the claim of Segar, Representative at large from Virginia.

Mr. Cessna reported in the contested case in the Fifth Pennsylvania district, a resolution ousting Reading, the sitting member in favor of Taylor, contestant. Randall presented a minority report with opposite conclusions.

Mr. Schenck gave notice that he would move to close general debate on the tariff bill to-morrow, and then moved to postpone a consideration of the bill by clauses till next Tuesday.

Mr. Logan, rising to a personal explanation had read a letter from Gen. Sherman to Senator Wilson, criticising the bill to reorganize the army and his (Logan's) speech in support of the measure. Logan said the remarkable features of the letter were, first, that it should have been written at all, second, that language such as was used in it should emanate from a General in the army. He had nothing to say against General Sherman, who was a gallant officer and from whose reputation he had never attempted to detract in the slightest degree, but self-respect demanded that when he was assaulted and the House was assailed through him, when he was charged with falsehood in his proceedings, he must reply. He referred to his former statements in regard to the staff of the army, but was interrupted by Slocum, who said it was unfair to make the House believe that the army of the United States was using more men to perform staff duties than European armies, for it was not so. Mr Logan continued, and quoted military authority in contradiction of the assertions of General Sherman with regard to the bill which he (Sherman) had designated as an odious army bill. Logan said he submitted it to the Secretary of War and Gen Sherman, that the Secretary read the bill section by section, and in the presence of General Sherman who made but two objections one to the mustering out of general officers and another which he (Logan) would not mention and the Secretary made but one objection, which Logan remedied by the amendment. He quoted against Sherman an extract from his report to the Secretary of War, recommending a plan for a reduction and reorganization of the army, with regard to the reduction of pay of general officers. He said the President might have told Sherman that his salary should not be reduced, but that was not his (Logan's) opinion. It might be that General Sherman with smaller pay could not give dinners and receptions, but he (Logan) did not care anything about that. In defense of a tax paying people and crippled soldiers and soldier's widows, he protested against the usurpation of power in the hands of a few men. He protested against the attempt of men in high positions to dictate the legislation of Congress. The legislative Department of the Government must be free and unfettered. He would say to those men in high positions that they were not law makers but obeyers, that they must not dictate about the taxation to be paid for their benefit whenever legislation became so stiffened and crippled that if a man who stood up for the people in a manly, honest, proper spirit was to be attacked in the columns of the papers by high officials and demanding that that Congress shall not do certain things then he would say farewell to the liberties of the country. He wanted to know whether this attack meant that the country was to be turned over to a few aristocrats as in Europe, whether titles were to be born, whether castes were to be established, whether an order of nobility was to grow up here? The people were honest, brave and true. It was the boys who carried muskets who made Generals. It was they also who made Presidents. He stood here to defend the liberties of the people and whether assailed by Generals or Marshals, by Governors, Kings, Princes or potentates, by newspapers or aristocrats he would still be found making war against dictation and dictators. [Applause from the galleries.]

On motion of Schenck it was ordered that all general debate on the tariff close to-morrow one hour and a half after the House goes into Committee.

The House then went into Committee on Tariff and was addressed by Marshall against a protective tariff and in favor of free trade.

At the evening session Mr Wilkins addressed the committee in [illegible] tariff. Adjourned.

Debate on the San Domingo Treaty.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The San Domingo treaty was discussed in Executive session. Mr Nye advocated ratification on the ground of commercial necessity. He argued that the time had come when the island adjacent to the United States should be under the protection of the United States; that they should [illegible] this country a position similar to that of setting a [illegible] army.

Mr Patterson followed in a speech comparatively brief, taking [illegible] ground against ratification. He maintained that it was contrary to the time to be interested [illegible] tropical territory whatever the settlement [illegible] the [illegible]

Mr Casserly has the floor and will argue against the treaty when it is again taken up. The time for the exchange of ratifications expired to-day but in the absence of an official communication the friends of the treaty [illegible] that extension could be procured from San Domingo if desired. The Senate took no action whatever on the treaty.

Confirmations.

The Senate to-day confirmed the nominations of Allen Rutherford as Third Auditor of the Treasury; J. W. Mason, of Arkansas, as Minister Resident and Consul General at Liberia; John Hall, of Illinois, as Secretary of Legation in Madrid; Peter Ralph as Supervising Inspector [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] be [illegible] to the Senate [illegible]

Washington Matters in General.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The news of the death of General Thomas [illegible] has occasioned a [illegible] sorrow [illegible] the army was [illegible] this afternoon. The President has addressed a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Thomas at San Francisco.

A bill providing for the [illegible] of the [illegible] and steam [illegible] was reported from the Senate Committee. It differs [illegible] from the [illegible] by the Treasury Department, of which a full abstract was given recently.

General Order in Regard to General Thomas.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—A general order from the headquarters of the army announces the death of General Thomas. It gives an entire account of his services. The General (Sherman) has known General Thomas intimately since they sat as boys on the same bench and the quality in him which he holds up for admiration and as an example to the young is his complete, entire devotion to duty. The General was sent to Florida, Mexico, Texas and Arizona when duty there was absolute banishment. He went cheerfully and never asked a personal favor, exemption or leave of absence. In battle he never wavered, firm, full of faith in his cause. He knew it would prevail, never sought advancement of rank or honor at the expense of any one. Whatever he earned of these were his own and no one disputed his fame. The very impersonation of honesty, integrity and honor, he will stand as the beau ideal of the soldier and gentleman. Though he leaves no child to bear his name the old Army of the Cumberland, numbered by tens of thousands called him father and weep for him tears of manly grief. His wife who cheered him with her messages of love in the darkest hours of the war will mourn him now in sadness chastened by the sympathy of the whole country. The last sad rites due him as a man and a soldier will be paid at Troy on the arrival of his remains and the friends of his family and all his comrades are invited there to share in the obsequies. At the military posts and stations flags will be displayed at half mast and 100 guns will be fired on the day after the receipt of this order. The usual badges of mourning will be worn for thirty days.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—There are about 50 officers and ex officers in the city who served under General Thomas and a meeting will be held to-morrow to take suitable action with regard to his death.

New York News.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Judge Cardoza has dissolved the injunction obtained by Fisk and Gould recently against the sale and transfer of the Albany and Susquehanna Railroad pending suit to compel the party to pay up the full par value of the stock.

Collector Pleasanton has taken the oath of office.

The flags are at half mast in memory of Gen Thomas.

It is stated that Fisk Jr., will be defeated as Colonel of the 9th regiment of State Militia.

The office of Maynard & Gillespie was robbed yesterday of $1,700 worth of gold certificates.

The Tammany quarrel continues intense notwithstanding the return to Albany of most of the politicians.

An Albany dispatch states that the new city charter introduced in the Assembly is nearly certain to pass.

Fearful Coal Mine Accident.

SHENANDOAH CITY, Pa., March 29.—A terrible accident occurred in the coal mine of Richard Hackner, near this place, this morning. While four men were descending the shaft to commence work the rope broke, letting them fall to the bottom over sixty feet. All were instantly killed.

From Tenn.

NASHVILLE, March 29.—Several newly elected officers have neglected to take the oath prescribed by the franchise law. It is said Gov. Senter refuses to issue commissions to such officers.

Great Storm in New York. Destruction of Property. Railroad Accidents.

ELMIRA, N. Y., March 29.—The storm on Sunday caused great havoc in this section in the destruction of farm houses and other property at different points in the interior. A portion of the Erie railroad was damaged by the flood and the track displaced.

The express train from New York yesterday ran off the track near Chemung damaging several cars, but none of the passengers were seriously injured.

A passenger train from New York was thrown off the track by a broken rail early this morning, two of the passenger cars and the smoking car filled with emigrants were rolled down an embankment badly smashing them. A number of the passengers were seriously and several fatally injured.

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 29.—Fourteen vessels were sunk at Haverstraw Bay during a storm on Sunday and other damage was done, loss $20,000.

Splendid Racing Premiums.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 29.—The Directors of the Buffalo Driving Park have decided to offer $40,000 in premiums for the summer meeting. The largest prize is $5,000, free to all horses, two others $1,000 each to horses that never beat 2:27 and 2:25 respectively.

Wreck of an Emigrant Ship.

BOSTON, March 29.—An emigrant ship is supposed to have foundered in the bay during the gale on Saturday night. Quantities of wrecked stuff and [illegible] were washed ashore on Cape Cod.

Railroad Matters.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—A horse attached to a cart heavily loaded with sand on O'Farrell street this afternoon ran away, dragging a man named Tyson who was attempting to hold the horse at bay. Tyson was thrown in front of the cart and one wheel passed over his thigh, causing a fracture of the limb.

This morning early, a Chinaman was found in a dying condition in a vacant lot off Brannan street. Officers started with him in a wagon to the hospital, but before they got there he died. The body was taken to the Coroner's. The body bore no signs of violence.

In accordance with the request of Mrs Thomas demonstration in the funeral service of General Thomas was avoided. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the family and members of the staff gathered at the Lick House when the Episcopal service was read by Bishop Kip, assisted by the Rev Mr. Birdsall and the Army Chaplain, Kendig. The remains will be forwarded to Troy, N. Y., to-morrow in charge of Col Willard, and an escort of thirty men. The family leave Wednesday next.

Protective Principles Advancing.

That the so-called free trade movement is resulting in strengthening the protective principle is becoming apparent. The failure of free trade meetings after a tremendous effort to make them successful, indicates the popular feeling. This feeling is amply illustrated by the subjoined remarks from the Philadelphia North American:

The only thing to be regretted is the effort of a few timid compromisers who want to sink the issue in order to avoid trouble in the party. No such counsel ought to be listened to. The strength of the party now that reconstruction and slavery are alike out of the field, lies wholly in the protection of home industry. To desert that strong ground for the sake of a small faction would be perilous in the extreme, and it is by no means certain that the effort would not cost us the confidence of the workingmen. They rallied around our standard in 1860 because the Republican National platform boldly took ground in favor of protection and the rights of labor. They have continued with us ever since because we have firmly adhered to protection and their labor has been remunerative. They know that they owe the protective tariff to us and so long as we maintain it we shall have their votes.

Republican free trade journals cannot carry their subscribers with them into the Democratic ranks and well they know it. In any attempt to desert, their following would be about as extensive as that of Andrew Johnson. But they have no idea of deserting, not a bit of it. Their power for mischief lies in the Republican ranks. The moment they leave the party all their power ends. Hence the desperate efforts they make to obtain control of the machinery of the party. There can be no compromise between us. The difference is radical and not to be bridged. Those who make no attempt like Mr. Wells go over to the enemy. It is a matter of principle, not new [illegible] Nations have grown mighty under the fostering influence of protection. In our [illegible] the British Government crushed our [illegible] with a strong hand. And all the headway we have since made has been by sheer hard fighting against British monopoly. "What is curlew?" said the stranger.

"Curlew, why curlew is a bird something like the snipe."

"Could it fly?"

"Yes."

"Did it have wings?"

"Yes."

"Then I don't want any curlew. Anything that had wings and could fly and didn't leave this d—d country I don't want for dinner."

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 31, 1870

For Republicans to Consider

A grave responsibility rests at this time on the Republican party of Oregon. The course taken by the opposition gives Republicans a great advantage if they will but use it properly. Soldiers, exclaimed Napoleon at Austerlitz, the enemy has thrown himself in your power. It is for you now to finish the campaign by a clap of thunder.

In all parts of the State there are men of respectability and influence who have heretofore acted with the Democratic party who cannot now sustain that party in its assaults on the public credit and on the honor and best interests of the country. As business men, looking to the welfare of the country and desiring earnestly to see it prosper in all its enterprises and industries, they cannot act with the Democratic party standing on its present platform. As men of honor, looking to the reputation of the State and to the credit of the nation, and desiring to see all obligations, whether of individuals or of Governments, honorably fulfilled, they cannot act with a party that proposes for this Government a policy which would instantly drive any individual who should adopt it out of all honorable business circles. This class of men will act with the Republican party in the coming election, if that party will only let them. The Republicans may win just as well as not, and their success may be perfectly assured from the start, if they will but take the right course in the coming State Convention.

What, then, is to be done? The Republican State Convention must present an unexceptionable ticket. Of course it is not to be thought of that any but reliable Republicans should be nominated. But it is necessary that the nominees should be men in whom the people can have perfect confidence. They must be men who can receive the support not only of Republicans but of the large class of fair-minded men of Democratic antecedents who revolt at the dishonorable platform put forth by the Albany Convention. They must be men who are identified with the past history and growth of the State, and who are in full sympathy with its great enterprises, present and prospective. They must be men of firmness, stability and unimpeachable integrity. The canvass must not be turned aside from its legitimate object,—the overthrow of the Democratic platform,—to any merely personal, and therefore petty, warfare. No man should have a place on the Republican ticket who cannot come with a perfectly clean record. The party must be loaded down with no weights in this canvass. Such a ticket as will win can be presented, and to the State Convention which is to assemble next week in Portland, such a ticket is looked for.

The occasion is one of the greatest importance. The responsibility is more weighty than ever before rested upon the Republican party of Oregon. All can see the drift of affairs, and it behooves Republicans to take advantage of it. All can see that large numbers of thinking men and business men upon whose support the Democratic party has heretofore relied, but who act independently, on their own convictions, are disposed to withhold their support from an organization which would break down the credit of the Government and dishonor us in the eyes of the world. The support of all fair men of this class can be secured for the Republican party by the presentation of the right ticket. Let us therefore have candidates upon whom the whole Republican strength may be concentrated, and who may likewise obtain the support of others who stand ready to go with us in this contest against repudiation.

"Practical Repudiation."—"Compulsory Disgorgement."

The New York World in a recent article said: "No party dares imperil itself by assailing the public credit." When this was written the World had not heard from its own party in Oregon!

Here the Democratic party has assailed the public credit. Here it goes into the campaign on this one issue. The World is right in saying that a party assailing the public credit "imperils itself," and the result of our election will make this statement good.

The public credit has been assailed by the Democratic party of Oregon in the most open and shameful manner. They who lead the movement glory in it, just as they gloried in secession and in rebel triumphs. The animus of the movement is revenge for past defeats. It is the Copperhead virus, that rankles now, just as it did during all the days of the war. The extreme element of the party has obtained supreme control of it, and prudence, moderation, and patriotic regard for the welfare of the country have been given to the winds.

The Fay letter peculiarly and forcibly illustrates the scheme of the Oregon repudiators. This letter was designed to be read at the Democratic ratification meeting in this city. Its sentiments are approved by the Herald. Mr. Slater and Col. Kelly affirmed them in their speeches. In this letter it is boldly declared that if equitable adjustment "leads to practical repudiation" or the "compulsory disgorgement from the bondholders of the sums they have already received, such a result will be but the fulfillment of justice." Here we have it that the whole debt is not only to be repudiated outright, but that those holding Government securities are to be made to pay back—to 'disgorge,'—the interest they have received. And this is the scheme with which Messrs Grover, Slater and Kelly have come before the people of Oregon!

A few inquiries here about this precious mode of "equitable adjustment." Is the person who within the last month has purchased bonds at 98 cents on the dollar in gold the one who is to be compelled after having his bond repudiated, to disgorge the interest that has been paid on the bond since it was first issued? Is this the Democratic idea of equity? And if the present holder of the bond is not to "disgorge," who is? How is this scheme of "disgorgement" to be made effective? Mr Grover and Col Kelly no doubt will undertake gravely to tell.

These gentlemen should be ashamed to face intelligent people anywhere as advocates of such a scheme. Considered in one point of view it is supreme silliness; considered in another, it is criminal folly. The jeers of the people should meet them on the one hand and their expressions of indignation should follow them on the other. They surely think the people of Oregon downright fools, else why do they come before them as advocates of a project at once so silly and so infamous?

Where "Equitable Adjustment" Got its Start

A discovery has been made! At last we have it! We know now where "equitable adjustment" got its start. We have traced its pedigree, we have explored its genealogy, and now we are prepared to explain to the admiring people of Oregon the origin of this brilliant theory which has been adopted by the Democracy of this State.

Dan Voorhees is an [illegible] member of Congress from a backwoods Indiana district. Dan and his constituents have about as much idea of finance as a Snake Indian has of astronomy. Well, Dan one day, in order to satisfy his people who expected him to do something in Congress, got up a speech on this equitable adjustment theory. The House of Representatives couldn't be bored by such nonsense but gave Dan permission to print his speech in the Globe. Of course nobody at the East ever heard of it or would have given it a moment's consideration if they had. Dan franked several copies out to his enlightened constituents who were at once filled with admiration at his wonderful ability. They were in ecstacies with their Elijah Pogram. An odd number of the Globe chanced to fall into the hands of one of the red hot Democratic politicians of Oregon. He saw Dan's speech and was captivated with it. Here was the very stuff and material for a Democratic platform. Here were the "time-honored principles" the Oregon Democracy had so long been searching for. Consequently this speech was condensed into the Democratic platform, and now Mr Slater is traveling over Oregon trying to recite to the people the "piece" of the eloquent member from the enlightened Indiana district with its beautiful theory of "bonus and all!"

And here is the basis the Oregon Democracy have attempted to build upon. The whole thing is founded on a "piece" which an obscure member from a benighted Indiana district got leave to print in the Globe. Slater's speech here the other night was as close a repetition of Dan Voorhees' "piece" as he (Slater) could be expected to give from an imperfect and halting memory. Certainly the Oregon Democracy are in a very dignified position!

Editorial Notes

That letter of Fay's will prove one of the most damaging things to the Democracy that could be devised. There was an allusion in it to the "noble leader in the Herald" on repudiation, and the Herald at once bit like a gudgeon, and published the letter, thus assisting to give circulation to a document that will damage its party every day from now till the election.

The Salem Press "spurns with indignation" the idea that any man not a member of the "craft" should be nominated for State Printer. Which being interpreted means that Beriah "spurns with indignation" the idea that himself was not nominated. We tender our sympathies, and venture the prediction that after the election he will be very glad he didn't get the nomination.

The Salem Press says that Slater in his speech at Salem, made an "unimpassioned review," etc. Unimpassioned is good. We have no doubt, his audience was unimpassioned, also. His Portland audience was quite so, and we hear from Oregon City, where Slater spoke Tuesday evening, that the audience were so decidedly unimpassioned that there was no applause either at the beginning, middle or end of his speech.

A correspondent in Clackamas writes "There is a certain Democratic ex-Governor in this county who came back from the State Convention and has started on an electioneering tour under an entirely new programme. He says that Congress has passed a law to tax all farmers and gardeners ten dollars a year each for selling at their farms or gardens their own products, but that the law is not to be enforced till after the June election." How very ancient the name of George L Curry does sound, to be sure! A story of this kind is just about his size.

OREGON

Much sickness is reported in Grand Ronde valley. Lung fever is the general complaint.

The people of Grand Ronde valley are having lots of fun shooting wild geese, with which the valley abounds of late.

The Statesman says that "an association of gentlemen" have chartered the Press and are going to run it daily "red-hot," and in the "Oregon style."

The La Grande Democrat has an account of a man killed in a horrible manner, by a span of runaway horses. The pole of the wagon struck the man and penetrated his body several inches, mangling the intestines in a dreadful manner.

We learn says the Statesman that the State Agricultural Society have bargained with Mr P O Riley for the purchase of some 60 or 70 acres of land lying east of, and adjoining the Fair Grounds on the whole length. It is a part of the old Walker claim, and will prove of great value to the Society in extending the Fair Grounds. Price, $50 per acre. The old camping grounds are to be laid out into streets and squares, for which Mr A C Daniels has the contract. There will be fourteen streets running east and west, and four running north and south. Blocks will be very long and 36 feet wide, for the convenience of campers.

A note from Oregon City gives us the following information in regard to the proceedings of the Circuit Court. The Grand Jury have brought in indictments against Charles Cutting for selling liquor in less quantities than one quart. He filed a bond and the case is continued until next term. The Grand Jury indicted Wm H Vaughn and James Officer for obstructing the public highway. They pleaded "not guilty" and filed bonds; case continued until next term. The case of S A Seely vs Nelson McConnell et al for damages to plaintiff by draining Black creek lake through plaintiff's land, is now before the Court and the testimony all taken and the case submitted to the court. Jurors discharged. In the case of John O Riley and wife against John Wilson, the Court set aside the verdict of the Jury for $3 000 for plaintiff and gave defendant Wilson a judgment for costs, notwithstanding the verdict, on the ground of defective pleading of plaintiff. Huelat for plaintiff; Page, Brents and Johnson & McCown for defendant.

THE EARTHQUAKE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The result of the recent election in New Hampshire shows that there has been a terrible earthquake among the Democracy of the State—an upheaval of the Democratic elements that has realized "chaos come again" most effectually. Look at the following figures:

Resolution of Instructions

The following resolution was adopted by the late Republican Convention of Clackamas county:

Whereas our fellow citizen, F O McCown, Esq, who has grown up from boyhood in our midst, and has commended himself to our confidence by his patriotism while the country was at war, by his integrity and urbanity as a neighbor, and by a successful and honorable professional career, is a candidate for the office of District Attorney of of the 4th Judicial District,

Resolved, That our delegates to the State Convention are instructed to use all honorable means to secure his nomination to the office named.

Gold: Its Discovery and Discoverer

A correspondent of the [illegible] thus sketches the town of Coloma, the locality where gold was first discovered in California. He says:

Coloma was the scene of the gold discovery in 1848. It was here that Sutter's mill stood on the bank of the creek, and one morning when the water had been turned from the race Marshall stepped upon the sandy river bed and found some pieces of yellow metal. This discovery created [illegible] it only excited our curiosity as to what the [illegible] was. [illegible] Weimer, a fellow workman in the mill with [illegible] the metal home and they experimented [illegible]. Mrs Weimer boiled it in lye; they pickled it, tried all sorts of experiments with it, but its brightness increased and it would not tarnish. They then became satisfied that it was precious gold, and the news of the discovery having been bruited about, the estimates of its importance were soon confirmed by the evidence of those who had seen the precious metal in its primitive state.

The immediate results of this important discovery have formed a most important page in the history of the nineteenth century, and need not be dwelt upon at length. An immense immigration was immediately attracted to these shores, and the town of Coloma, the Sutter's Mill, was the goal most of them sought. All the ravines and hillsides thereabouts proved amazingly rich; an immense mining population centered there, and a flourishing, active, busy town sprang up like magic on the banks of that quiet stream, the stillness of whose air had only previously been broken by echoes of falling trees and the steady buzzing of the saw mill. And Coloma was a lively camp. From morning till night for more than ten years thereafter its streets, or rather its street, was crowded from morning till night. Merchants made fortunes in supplying the trade that diverged from this point radiating in many branches through the country; miners came down from the mountains and gulches with their buck skin bags of glittering dust and spent it as freely as water; the hotels were filled constantly, saloons ditto, and the [illegible] and thud of dust bags in the gambling saloons could be heard at all times. It was the county seat of El Dorado when that county was in its prime, and in those good old days when to be a county official was equal in its pecuniary emoluments to the governing of a small European principality. On Court days the legal learning and talent of the State gathered there, for in those unsettled times litigation was brisk and fees were plentiful and liberal.

As we entered the town my attention was directed to a large two-story frame building, the doors and windows of which were gone and the edifice was fast crumbling away. This was formerly the leading hotel of the town, and did a thriving business, its office crowded almost constantly, and in its saloon the constant services of two bar keepers were required to dispense high toned liquid to the thirsty crowd. The main street was well built up, containing many fire proof buildings, while the hill sides were sprinkled with cottages surrounded by neat gardens, orchards and vineyards, giving it a home like appearance, for which Coloma was always especially noted. But few of the old inhabitants are left there now, and in fact there are but few people in the town. Probably three fourths of the buildings are unoccupied and deserted, the mines are nearly all abandoned and the town is as nearly extinct as well can be and yet exist. You might fire a cannon ball down the main street without danger of hitting any one, unless some stray Chinaman should chance to get in the way, for the Chinese slip into these towns as the white men leave, and in their contentment with small wages, not only exist, but appear to be exceedingly happy. I took lunch at the only hotel in the place. It was a large two story frame building, having probably a frontage of 60 feet by 100 feet in depth with a large stable attached and all in good order. The improvements upon this lot cost about $25 000 and how much do you suppose the present owner paid for the entire corner? Why $750! And yet he was repining over his bargain, and trying to devise means to get his money out of the property. He proposes to take the doors and windows out of the hotel, take them to some rail road town, and use them in the construction of another hotel and in this way he has some hopes of getting even. Nearly all the houses are supported on stilts, the ground underneath them having been "mined out" and lot owners made good speculations in days gone by, in selling town lots for mining purposes. The street is still intact, and stands up a high ridge, through a vast field of cobble stones. When the remaining white persons shall have deserted the town, and the appearances indicate that the day is not far distant, then the Chinese will no doubt mine the street, and may perhaps strike good diggings.

I was curious to know the precise spot upon which Sutter's mill stood, and a blacksmith came out of his shop and kindly showed me. It was "down there on the edge of the creek, where you see those two large granite boulders. The mill stood precisely where those boulders are." I strolled down to the spot, picking my way over the loose cobbles, and followed the stream until I reached the spot. I was an "innocent abroad," a "Pilgrim," visiting, for the first time, a scene around which must naturally cluster more recollections, and give inspiration to deeper reflections, than any spot on this young Pacific slope. I have not the time to follow at length the reflections that possessed me, but as I pitched a pebble into the stream, which must have fallen near the spot where Marshall picked up his glittering specimen, I thought of the effect which his discovery had had upon the world's history of the great tide of humanity that surged here immediately after, the vast enterprises which it called into being—how the world was drawn hither by its magnetic influences, the Isthmus of Darien was spanned by a railroad—"every tie of which was a dead negro," of the thousands of steam ships that had time and again made their entries and their exits through the Golden Gate, the cities that have been built, the wealth of treasure that has flowed into the channels of trade, and that grandest achievement of all the Pacific Rail road. I thought of the beautiful palace-like buildings of the metropolis, of the magnificent capitol at Sacramento, with its elegant legislative chambers, and then I looked up to the hill side and saw the present home of Marshall—a picture of abject poverty, of toil, deprivation and want. It is a little hut on the hill overlooking the town. Its tin roof having apparently been made from the lining of a dry goods box, and appears not much larger than a good sized dog kennel. A few grape vines are planted around the place and over the top of the hill, and this little spot, to which he has but a possessory, or squatter's title, is all the worldly possessions of Marshall the discoverer of gold in California. Every day he toils from the time the sun appears in the East until his setting rays kiss the top of his humble cot, delving out a bare subsistence yet always inspired with the hope of lucky strikes and a competence for his old age. And thus he has been toiling for over twenty years while nations have arisen and fallen—while others have amassed wealth from his discovery, and the eyes of the world have been turned toward the land he first brought into notice. We boast of our generosity, open handed liberality, gratitude and of all the virtues with which a self righteous people love to glorify themselves, but to my mind it is a shame and a disgrace to the State, as well as the nation, that John W Marshall, the discoverer of gold in California should thus be condemned to poverty and want, without a decent roof to cover his head.

AN ACCOMMODATING WIFE AND AN OBLIGING HUSBAND.—Parisian journals relate that after every Court ball at the Tuileries, the magnificently uniformed Cent Gardes upon divesting themselves of their high boots, always find a billets doux in them. The Indépendance Belge relates the following anecdote in relation to this:

One of the invited guests had caught his wife in the act of delivering a tender epistle to one of the gala soldiers. The husband wished to revenge himself on her and did so in a highly ingenious manner. On the day after the Court ball he was seated with his wife at the table, when suddenly the door bell was rung very violently. A servant entered the room and said:

"There is at the door a soldier desires to see Madame."

The lady turned very pale, but the husband seemed not to pay the slightest attention to it. Next day the same scene took place at the dinner table, and the servant appeared again, saying:

"There is at the door a soldier asking for Madame."

"Is it the same who was there yesterday?"

"No."

"I am not at home."

On the following days the same scene was re-enacted. Finally the tormented wife could stand it no longer and so she said to her husband:

"I am the victim of a poor joke. Show these men the door."

"Madame," replied the husband, "I sent those persons myself. You wished for a tete-a-tete with a soldier, I fulfill your wish, and procure you such a one every day. We have 800 000 men in arms, so you may have visits from soldiers for 222 years."

The lady went to a convent.

THE WEST

It is stated that Col Sinclair's command, now at Fort Boise, will soon be ordered to Arizona.

The Democratic Convention of Idaho Territory will assemble at Boise City on the 2d May to nominate a candidate for Congress.

The Colorado Miner says that Summit county in that Territory is probably the largest in the world. It is about 2[illegible]0 miles in length by 150 miles in width, and covers an area of over twenty seven thousand square miles.

At the late election in Corinne the women, although possessing the privilege, did not in a single instance exercise the right to vote. The Reporter says the election [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Marsh's majority over Munroe for Mayor was only two.

It is [illegible] Boise City to W[illegible] was [illegible] $[illegible] while one $[illegible] faster [illegible] The rates of his bid [illegible] as low.

[illegible] A contemporary puts "equitable adjustment" in this way:

In their speeches at the Ratification meeting of the Democrats on Monday night the candidate for Congress, Mr Slater, and Col Kelly both took particular care to impress upon their hearers that because the interest of the National Debt will equal the principal (by the process of computation which Slater and Kelly have) every sixteen years, therefore the debt would be paid in that period, and the bondholders would have no right to expect any further payment. Now let us put substantially the same question in another way. Say that Mr Slater rents a dwelling worth $3 000 to Col Kelly for $40 per month. That is $480 per annum. Now in nine years Col Kelly will have paid to Mr Slater for rent the sum of $4 320, or $240 more than the property was valued at when Col Kelly rented it. Will Mr Slater undertake to say that at the expiration of the nine years Col Kelly will own the property? Further on the principle of his style of "equitable adjustment," that he must pay back to Col Kelly that $240 surplus? We await answer?

Republican Territorial Convention

To the Republican Voters of Washington Territory:

By an Act of Congress, approved March 3 1869, the Delegate to which this Territory will be entitled in the Forty Second Congress of the United States is to be elected on the first Monday being the 6th day of June 1870.

The Republican Central Committee have therefore called a Republican Convention to assemble on Thursday the 21st day of April next at 10 o'clock A M in the city of Vancouver, to put in nomination a candidate for Delegate, and to transact such other business as may properly come before it.

The basis of representation adopted by the Committee is the same as the representation in the last Convention, except that no county which cast one hundred or more Republican votes at the last election shall have less than one vote in the Convention. Under this basis the respective counties will be entitled to representation and votes as follows:

Chehalis 1 delegate, ½ vote; Clarke 4 delegates, 4 votes; Clallam 1 delegate, 1 vote; Cowlitz 1 delegate, 1 vote; Island 1 delegate, 1 vote; Jefferson 2 delegates, 1½ votes; King 2 delegates, 2 votes; Kitsap 2 delegates, 1½ votes; Klickitat 1 delegate, ½ vote; Lewis 1 delegate, 1 vote; Mason 1 delegate, ½ vote; Pacific 1 delegate, 1 vote; Pierce 2 delegates, 1½ votes; Skamania 1 delegate, 1 vote; Snohomish 1 delegate, 1 vote; Stevens 1 delegate, 1 vote; Thurston 3 delegates, 2½ votes; Walla Walla 5 delegates, 5 votes; Wahkiakum 1 delegate, ½ vote; Whatcom 1 delegate, 1 vote; Yakima 1 delegate, ½ vote.

It is respectfully recommended to the several counties to hold their Primaries on the 2d and their County Conventions on the 9th day of April.

The Committee would urgently request every republican to attend the primary meetings and elect as such delegates firm friends of the Republican cause, the cause of Freedom and Progress, the cause which will in the future as in the past promote the best interests of the whole people.

We call upon all Republicans to remain firmly united and under no circumstances to allow disorganizing influences to divide and endanger the success of the Republican party. Everything now indicates the success of our party at the ensuing election.

TO GAS CONSUMERS:

THE UNDERSIGNED PROPRIETOR OF THE LEFFINGWELL GAS SAVING GOVERNOR for the State of Oregon is now prepared to furnish Gas Consumers with this valuable machine, whereby a saving of fifteen to thirty per cent may be effected and a steady light secured.

The Machine can be seen at the Occidental Hotel, where all orders will be attended to.

I call attention to the following Testimonials.

J. J. MILLER.

Cosmopolitan Saloon, Portland, Oregon, March 5 1870.

MR J J MILLER—Sir: The Leffingwell Gas Saving Governor that you attached to our meter four weeks ago has proved highly satisfactory, it having made a saving of at least twenty five per cent in that time. Fully believing it to be what you represent we cheerfully recommend it to Gas Consumers.

GREENE & KNOTT

Oro Fino Theater, Portland, March 4, 1870.

We hereby certify that we have for the past four weeks used the Leffingwell Saving Gas Governor, and that it worked exceedingly well, having saved at least 25 per cent in our weekly bills. We can cheerfully recommend it to all, fully believing it to be what it claims.

BATES & MILLER, Oro Fino Theater

Cosmopolitan Hotel, San Francisco, Dec 18 1869.

We have used the Leffingwell Gas Governor in our house for six weeks past, and find we make a saving of from $25 to $30 per week, and that it continues to give us entire satisfaction. We most cheerfully recommend it to the public.

TUBBS & PATTEN

San Francisco, Dec 15 1869.

This is to certify that for the last two months we have used two of the Leffingwell Gas Saving Governors on our large meters, and that we are fully satisfied with their operation, having effected a saving during that time of about $25 per week. We therefore recommend them to the public.

H H PEARSON & CO, Proprietors Russ House

Office Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, Cal, Dec 16, 1869.

A PARSONS & CO—Gentlemen: Having used four of your Gas saving Governors for several months now, I cheerfully endorse their saving qualities. I consider the money paid for your Governors the best investment I ever made. Yours truly,

H H UHRLANDT

San Francisco, Dec. 15 1869.

A PARSONS & CO—Gentlemen: The Leffingwell Gas Governor which we have had in use in our store at No 123 Kearney street for the last five weeks, is working well, and we consider it a durable and valuable machine, something that every gas consumer that studies his own interest should adopt. It has made a satisfactory reduction in our gas bills, and at the same time causing the burners to give a more steady light.

ACKERMAN BROS

San Francisco, December 13, 1869.

I hereby certify that for the past two weeks I have used upon my meter one of Leffingwell's Gas Saving Governors—the saving of gas by its use being sufficient to justify me in purchasing the same.

THOS R CHURCH, 223 Montgomery St

San Francisco, Dec. 16 1869.

Messrs A Parsons & Co.—Gentlemen—The Gas Saving Governor you applied to the meter of our premises, 136 Montgomery street, opposite Occidental Hotel, has proved very satisfactory, both in economy and giving us steady light. Our bills represent a saving of about twenty-five per cent, and we take pleasure in recommending those who have large gas bills to try the Governor. Yours Truly,

DOYLE & CUNNINGHAM

No 1 Masonic Temple, San Francisco, Dec 25 1869.

Messrs. A Parsons & Co.—The Gas Governor which you applied to my meter has saved me at least 20 per cent, and is highly satisfactory, and I cheerfully recommend it to all consumers of gas.

On motion the City Auditor was instructed to purchase a year's supply of stationery for the city officers of the lowest bidder on the same plan as adopted last year.

An ordinance relative to the pay of the City Engineer was read a first time.

On motion it was resolved that the City Auditor give the usual notice that the Common Council propose to improve Second and South [illegible] and streets from the center of Harrison to the center of Sheridan streets, by grading to the established grade.

A motion ordering the survey of Third street from Harrison and Sixth street from Clay, both to the Carothers line, was entertained and finally referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Adjourned.

SETTLING IN OREGON.—Among the several new acquaintances which we have formed very recently of those coming to Oregon to settle, we may mention another gentleman, Mr John Sloan, who has just purchased a homestead of Stitzel & Upton, seven miles west of this city. Mr Sloan has for many years resided in California, and followed various pursuits. About the close of last year he disposed of his [illegible] Nevada county and set out to find a location better suited to his tastes. With this view he spent nearly or quite two months in traveling through California, during which time he learned to perfection the ways of real estate dealers, landholders, homestead associations, etc., who are always on the qui vive to "do" an emigrant, and his opinion is that Oregon would have all the population and money she wants, from California, if proper contrast could only be made, of the manner in which the same class of business is carried on in the two States—so that emigrants might be able to post themselves before they are fleeced and picked to death in California. He states that people here are all very familiar with, and what has been printed and published thousands of times over, concerning the prejudice of California against Oregon, but by practical personal observation in his own case, he can testify to the utter falsity of the [illegible] taken against this State and [illegible] is fully to have it understood by his friends in California that after all the time and money [illegible] there by him to hunt up a homestead, and failing to find one which it would have been judicious for him to purchase, he has, here in Oregon, in less than one-eighth of the time, and with comparatively no means, secured a home [illegible] equal to the best in California—and that there are many more such to be obtained.

OREGON AND CALIFORNIA RAILROAD.—We learn by parties who returned from the Railroad meeting at Salem yesterday that the corporation known as the Oregon Central Railroad Company of Salem was dissolved on Tuesday, after a transfer of all of its rights, property, franchise, etc., to a new corporation organized in this city on the 17th inst, and named the "Oregon and California Railroad." The Directors in the new organization are: Ben Holladay, W L Halsey, [illegible] Temple Emmett, Geo W Weidler, I R Moores, D H Lewis, J C Hawthorne and [illegible] Branford. Ben Holladay, Esq., is President, W L Halsey Vice President, and A G Cunningham Secretary. Under the auspices of the new company freed from many embarrassments attending the old one, and the well known executive ability and energy of Mr Holladay, the work of constructing and equipping the road will be vigorously prosecuted. The new company is organized with a capital stock of $20,000,000, and with a view of carrying out to completion the enterprise originally contemplated by the Oregon Central, namely, the construction of a railroad and a telegraph line from Portland, Oregon, southerly through the Willamette, Umpqua and Rogue River valleys, to the southern boundary of the State in strict accordance with the act of Congress of July 25, 1866, and amendments granting lands for such purposes. We understand it is the purpose of the new company to finish the construction and equipment of the road to the one hundred mile post above Albany during the present year.

James B Day and wife to Barbary Agee, Bailey, lots 3 and 4 in block 226 in East Portland; $275.

John Ayres and wife to S A Mills, a piece of land containing five acres situated near East Portland and being a portion of Selden Murray's donation claim; $500.

William Taylor to Daniel Dunbar, all the N [illegible] of William Taylor's donation claim, being situated in range 3 east, township [illegible] north; $1 000.

John E Patton to John W Shattuck, lots [illegible] and 8 in block 20; $3 150.

Philip Cohn and wife to Jefferson Carter, lots [illegible] and 8 in block 196; $900.

A DAM NUISANCE.—We have been asked to notice a nuisance existing in the north part of the city at what is known in winter as Crystal Lake. The parties calling our attention to the matter denominate it as a dam nuisance, from the fact that a dam made at the lower end of the lake prevents the water from flowing out, and this confined body of water [illegible] a damage to the health [illegible] parts and residents in that vicinity. If we are to have any more warm weather as wise ones predict, this summer, it may perhaps be productive of disease. At all events the matter is worthy of investigation by those whose duty it is to attend to such things.

[illegible] The [illegible] Mountaineer says that a [illegible] of Wasco county wishing to know the price of oil cake at Portland [illegible] agents for the [illegible] waiting four [illegible] he received a [illegible] which he [illegible] larger. This [illegible] information [illegible]

CITY.

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The regular weekly meeting of the Common Council was held at the Council Chamber last evening, Mayor Goldsmith presiding.

Present—Besser, Breck, Lewis, Moffet, Porter—5.

Absent—Bills, Cree, Hopkins, Ripley—4.

Charles McGinn was granted the use of part of a certain street for thirty days with the usual restrictions.

H. L. Pittock and twelve other residents of Washington street applied for a lamp at the corner of Washington and Eighth streets. Petition referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Application was made by owners of three-fourths of the property, for the grading of North Seventh street, in front of block 50, and the application was referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property, with instructions to report by ordinance.

The Ways and Means Committee reported a loan of currency on real estate security, and their report was adopted.

Chief Engineer Holman reported that the cistern, corner of C and Ninth streets, was ready for acceptance, and the report was referred to the Fire and Water Committee.

Messrs. H. C. Leonard, J. C. Carson and S. G. Reed, viewers appointed to view and report upon the extension of East and West Park streets, reported that on the 30th inst. they had completed their duties. The report shows that the lands to be taken belong to different parties, not necessary for the viewers to name, and that having passed over the same and based their estimates upon the plan of equitable adjustment they had determined that no one would sustain any damages by the opening of the streets; that benefits were equal, etc. The reports were referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Warrants were ordered in favor of the following parties in liquidation of claims against the city: H. J. Stevenson, $7; S. J. McCormick, $33; T. Patterson & Co., $5; C. H. Myers, $200 21.

Bill of James Dougherty, for repairing Nicolson pavement at the intersection of Morrison and Front streets, $20, was referred.

On motion, the City Auditor was instructed to purchase a year's supply of stationery for the city offices, of the lowest bidder, on the same plan as adopted last year.

An ordinance relative to the pay of the Chief Engineer was read a first time.

On motion, it was resolved that the City Auditor give the usual notice that the Common Council propose to improve Second and South Second [illegible] from the center of Harrison to the [illegible] of Sheridan streets, by grading to the established grade.

A [illegible] ordering the survey of Third street from [illegible], and Sixth street, from Clay, both to the [illegible] line, was entertained and final [illegible] to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Adjourned.

SETTLED IN OREGON.—Among the several new [illegible] which we have formed very recently, of those coming to Oregon to settle, we may mention another gentleman, Mr. John A. [illegible], who has just purchased a homestead of [illegible] Upton, seven miles west of this city. Mr. [illegible] has, for many years, resided in California and followed various pursuits. About the [illegible] of last year he disposed of his business in [illegible] county, and set out to find a location better suited to his tastes. With this view he spent [illegible] quite two months in traveling through [illegible], during which time he learned to perceive the ways of real estate dealers, landholders, [illegible] associations, etc., who are always [illegible] "to do" an emigrant, and his [illegible] that Oregon would receive all the population and supply the wants, from California, if a [illegible] that could only be made, of the manner in which the same class of business is carried on in the [illegible] States, so that emigrants might be [illegible] themselves before they are fleeced [illegible] to death in California. He states this people here are all very familiar with, and [illegible] has been printed and published thousands [illegible] concerning the prejudices of California against Oregon, but by practical, [illegible] in his own, case can [illegible] to the utter falsity of the position taken against this State, and desires publicity to have it understood by his friends in California that after all the time and money expended by him to hunt up a homestead, and failing in [illegible] which it would have been judicious for him to purchase, he has, here in Oregon, in less than one-eighth of the time, and with [illegible] money, secured a homestead [illegible] to the best in California—and that there are many more such to be obtained.

OREGON AND CALIFORNIA RAILROAD.—We learn [illegible] who returned from the Railroad meeting at Salem yesterday, that the corporation [illegible] as the Oregon Central Railroad Company [illegible] was dissolved on Tuesday, after a transfer of all of its rights, property, franchises, etc., to a new corporation organized in this city on the [illegible], and named the "Oregon and California Railroad." The Directors in the new organization are [illegible] Holladay, W. L. Halsey, C. [illegible] Emmett, Geo. W. Weidler, I. R. Moores, [illegible] J. D. Hawthorne and Medorem [illegible]. Ben Holladay, Esq., is President, [illegible] Halsey, Vice President; A. G. Cunning[illegible]. Under the auspices of the new [illegible], freed from many embarrassments at[illegible] the old one, and the well known energy and energy of Mr. Holladay, the [illegible] of constructing and equipping the road will [illegible] pushed. The new company is [illegible] with a capital stock of $20,000,000, and [illegible] of carrying out to successful completion the [illegible] originally contemplated by the [illegible], namely: The construction of a railroad and telegraph line from Portland, Oregon, [illegible] through the Wallamet, Umpqua [illegible] Valleys, to the southern boundary [illegible] in strict accordance with the act of Congress of July 25, 1866, and amendments [illegible] for such purposes. We understand [illegible] of the new company to finish the [illegible] and equipment of the road to the one [illegible] above Albany, during the present year.

James B. Day and wife to Barbary Amelia Bailey; lots 3 and 4 in block 220, in East Portland, $275.

John Ayres and wife to S. A. Mills, a piece of land containing five acres, situated near East Portland, and being a portion of Selden Murray's [illegible] claim, $500.

William Taylor to Daniel Dunbar, all the N ½ of William Taylor's donation claim, being situated in range 3 east, township 1 north, $1,000.

John R. Felton to John W. Shattuck, lots 7 and 8 in block 120, $3,150.

Philip Cohn and wife to Jefferson Carter, lots 7 and 8 in block 198, $900.

A DAM NUISANCE.—We have been asked to notice a nuisance existing in the north part of the city, at what is known in winter as Crystal Lake. The parties calling our attention to the matter [illegible] it as a dam nuisance; from the fact that a dam, made at the lower end of the lake prevents the water from flowing out, and this [illegible] body of water will in a short time be a very unsavory smelling pool, which they claim will be a damage to the health of occupants and residents in that vicinity. If we are to have any such warm weather as wise ones predict this summer, it may perhaps be productive of disease. At all events, the matter is worthy of investigation by those whose duty it is to attend to such things.

DEARER AND DANGEROUS.—The Dalles Mountaineer says that a stock raiser of Wasco county, wishing to know the price of oil cake at Portland, wrote to a Front street firm, agents for the Salem oil mill, for information. After waiting four or five days, on Friday evening he received a telegram informing him the price, for which he had to pay one dollar telegraphic charges. This appears to us rather an expensive way of sending information, especially after time enough had elapsed to send by mail nearly a half dozen replies.

STATISTICAL.—Some person has calculated that there are at least 1,000 voters in the precinct known as "Portland," in this city. By a further calculation, based upon careful estimates of the time consumed in voting viva voce, it has been found out that two days will be necessary to get this vote in at the next election, unless the boundaries of the precincts are changed, and the same divided into two or three separate precincts. A petition asking for some such alteration is being unanimously signed by men of all parties.

No. 1 DRILL.—Wallamet Engine Company No. 1 was out with its engine last evening drilling at the intersection of First and Morrison streets. The old machine throws about as elegant a stream as ever. The same old members, many of them, manning the brakes.

EQUITABLE ADJUSTMENT.—Wm. Fitzgerald, the only applicant for legislation of justice before Recorder Anderson yesterday, was found to have been drunk and disorderly, to which he demurred not, but was anxious to equitably adjust the affair and get off with a paying [illegible] to which proposition the court was not willing [illegible] and the "adjustment" was made on the old basis by Fitzgerald forking over greenbacks to the amount of $5 and costs. The old way is the best after all.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—The arguments before Judge Deady on motion for a new trial in the case of the United States vs. [illegible] Mathiot were made yesterday and submitted to the Court. A warrant of commission was filed in the case of the United States vs. the steamer [illegible]. In the matter of the case of Briscoe vs. Hinnman, an order was made allowing the defendant to amend his answer.

ADVERTISING OREGON.—Messrs. Russell & Ferry, 83 First street, have issued a small paper of eight pages, which they propose to issue regularly on the first of every month hereafter, devoted to real estate and advertising Oregon abroad. They say in their salutatory that they deem such a journal a necessity, and have concluded to fill the void. Sample copies sent free.

THE OVERLAND MAIL.—It is pretty generally believed here that the reported letting of the Oregon and California mail to a Mr. [illegible] of Atchison, Kansas at the rate of $80,000 per annum, is another Wheelbarrow affair. We trust that no more such trouble may come out of this transaction as that occasioned by the straw bids of 1869.

SOME COMFORT.—There are usually some few grains of comfort in the worst of disasters. In the destruction of the Court House square, it is gratifying to know that some public interest lingers there yet, and that we are to have two plazas instead of one, and that the two plaza fences are to each have a nice new coat of paint.

CIRCUIT COURT.—In consequence of Judge W. W. Upton's absence yesterday, still holding a term of Court in Clackamas county, the—Circuit Court for Multnomah county was adjourned by the Sheriff last evening until to-day, at which time, should the Judge be able to come here, business now pending will be taken up.

IN PURSUIT.—It is thought that Charlie Gall will be captured yet, for his thieving operations at Johnson's smoke house. If he is it is hoped that he may be sent up to Salem, at Major Berry's headquarters, where he will be given a chance to earn for himself an honest livelihood in the brick making business.

SENT TO JAIL.—The young man who assaulted the Chinaman near Turn Verein Hall on Tuesday, had an examination before Justice Anderson yesterday, was found guilty and was sent to jail for two days in default of payment of his fine. His name was P. Harrold.

HAY FOR EAST PORTLAND.—For two days past the Fannie Troup has landed at East Portland to discharge hay for the animals employed on the Oregon and California Railroad. Somebody must have been "making hay while the sun shone."

CONVICTED.—A Chinaman, known as Ah Mau, was arraigned yesterday before Justice Work on a charge of larceny. His guilt was established, and the unfortunate thief—unfortunate by his being detected—was fined $25 and costs.

LARCENY.—Mary Obershaw, a frail one living within the bounds of the Court of Death, will appear for trial before Justice Anderson this morning on a charge of stealing $40 from "her man," night before last.

HICKORY NUTS.—J. O. Connor, corner of Stark and First streets, has for sale a few genuine shell bark hickory nuts, and butter nuts, direct from the Keystone State by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express.

A STAMPEDE.—Several head of fat cattle, being driven into the city from the south yesterday, stampeded on market street, and caused considerable excitement before they finally were corralled.

PUBLIC PARTY.—Of course all will recollect the public party to be given this evening at the Washington Guard Armory by Prof. Cardinell. The last of the season, of his academy.

RELIGIOUS.—It is said that there is considerable interest being felt in religious matters at East Portland just now in the Parish of Rev. Mr. Fairchild.

FROM SALEM.—The locomotive Oregon, with a passenger car from Salem, arrived at the station in East Portland, at 11 o'clock, A. M. yesterday.

MILITARY BALL.—The Emmet Guard propose giving a grand Civic and Military Annual Ball about May 1st.

General De Peyster's Life of General Kearny.

Few old "army men" enjoyed a wider or more enviable popularity than Philip Kearny. As a beau sabreur, as a genial companion, as an accomplished gentleman, as a defender of the flag, he was loved and admired, and there were many who lamented his fall in the ranks of his opposers. His personal and military history has been written with great fullness, and in a most animated style, by his friend and kinsman, General J. Watts De Peyster. General Kearny's career was short, but crowded with incident beyond that of most soldiers of our time, embracing service on the prairies of the Far West and in Algeria in early manhood, a brilliant participation in the war with Mexico at a later day, and a prominent share in the dangers of the war of the Rebellion, in which he died a soldier's death on the field of battle.

General De Peyster's volume has an additional value in presenting a complete history of the Virginia campaign up to the battle of Groveton. But the portion of the memoir that possesses the highest interest is that which relates to the boyhood of its subject. Born in affluence, and amid the refinements and even routine of city life, Philip Kearny, while yet a child, developed the tastes and instincts of the man of war. He was a bold rider, performing at the age of eight a feat of horsemanship which startled those who witnessed it. It is curious to see him, with this natural bent for the military life, under the teaching of Dr. Cogswell and George Bancroft, at Round Hill School, at Northampton, Mass., gentle, docile, attentive to his books and giving no sign whatever of the martial spirit that possessed him. Equally interesting is it to note his boyish sport in mimic campaigns, bringing into the field from four to six thousand leaden soldiers to be knocked over and placed hors de combat by spring guns. Thus amusing his leisure hours, he passed creditably through Columbia College and declining the allowance of fifteen hundred dollars a year offered him by his grandfather on condition that he would enter the ministry, began the study of law in the office of Peter Augustus Jay, where he remained for some time, fonder then of Jomini than Blackstone, and rating Tilly higher than Mansfield. In a tour of Europe at the age of nineteen, performed in company with General De Peyster, "his only idea seemed to be looking at soldiers and their manoeuvres, and he would get up at daybreak to see the exercises of a regiment of cavalry." Here we see that the child is father of the man. Given such prepossessions and personal traits, and a theatre of action, and the result was inevitable in a daring and effective leader. The biographer has told the story with much wealth of literary illustration, and it possesses an interest for all classes of readers.

The British Navy.

England has shown herself prompt in learning the lesson taught by the encounter between the Monitor and Merrimac, and is now [illegible] the most formidable fleet in the world. When all the vessels now in process of construction in her navy yards are finished, the iron-clad fleet will consist of two broadside ships of the largest size, six of the second class, nine of the third, eight of the fourth, four of the fifth and two of the sixth. Of turret ships there will be two of the first class, five of the second and two of the third. Besides these there are a number of smaller iron vessels. To keep this formidable fleet up to the proper standard the Admiralty intend to add yearly 20,000 tons to the navy, including 12,000 tons of armored and turreted ships and fast frigates. A pamphlet written by E. J. Reed, the Chief Constructor of the British Navy, gives some particulars concerning this fleet and its cost, which may interest our readers. The annual expenditures during the last ten years has been at the rate of £1,000,000 per annum. The Monarch, now at Annapolis, has been so fully described that the details of her construction and qualities are familiar. Admiral Porter pronounces her the finest ship afloat. But there are two vessels now on the stocks which surpass her in strength. They are to be named respectively the Devastation and Thunderer. They are turret ships, and will have plates 14, 12 and 10 inches thick. The Rupert and Hotspur, specially designed as rams, are almost as strong. The great difficulty to be solved in the construction of ironclads is to make the hulls strong while diminishing their weight. In the first vessel constructed the weight of the hull exceeded that of the weight they had to carry. In the Defence this was about 1,000 tons, in the Black Prince 400 tons, and in the Achilles upwards of 500 tons. The Minotaur was the first in which this was reversed, her weight exceeding that of the hull by 100 tons. The Bellerophon carries 120 tons more than the weight of her hull, the Sultan 900 tons, the Monarch, with a lighter hull than the Sultan, 900 tons. The progress in this last case was considerable, for though the Monarch is about the same weight as the Bellerophon, yet she carries 844 tons more than the latter. This is an important step gained, for if in two ships of equal weight one can carry more armament than the other, her means of offense are increased in proportion, while at the same time the cost of construction is reduced. Some of the rams have a double skin, so that if the outer one be torn or injured, the vessel will still float and be as formidable as before. It is not pleasant to reflect that we have no fleet to encounter these British monsters, and still less agreeable to remember that we must some day build one.

A SPECIAL CONVOCATION of Portland R. A. Chapter will be held this evening for work. Royal Arch at [illegible] All companions invited to attend.

By order of the M. E. H. P.
GUSTAF WILSON, Secretary.

What does Reason say?
The little mongoose when bitten by a deadly serpent resorts to a certain plant, eats of it and escapes the effect of the poison. That is instinct. Human beings, on the other hand, must depend on reason and experience in selecting the means of protecting health and life against unwholesome influences. Now, what does reason say on this vital subject? Does it not tell us that to invigorate and purify the system is the best way to protect it against the invisible poison which generates disease? Surely it does. The next question is, what guide shall we follow in choosing a medicinal safeguard. Reason replies let your monitor be experience. Well, the experience of eighteen years comprised in one unbroken series of satisfactory testimonials assures us that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters possesses strengthening, regulating and antibilious properties which are not combined in the same happy proportions in any other preparation extant. This, therefore, is the antidote to which reason bid us resort when our health is imperilled either by the malaria which produces epidemic disorders or by any other cause, whether inherent and constitutional or connected with our habits, occupations and pursuits.

The venom of a noxious reptile is scarcely more subtle and dangerous than that which lurks in foul air and impure water. To escape the fevers, bilious disorders, disturbances of the bowels and other serious maladies produced by these insalubrious elements it is necessary that the stomach and all the secretive organs should be so to speak in a robust condition. Upon the amount of resistance which the vital system can oppose to the deleterious influences that assail it the safety of the health depends, and it is because the GREAT VEGETABLE INVIGORANT imparts energy and regularity to the most important functions of the body, that it can be recommended and guaranteed as an invaluable preventive medicine.

"The Catalogue of RUMSEY & CO., of Seneca Falls, embraces over 200 different styles and sizes of Lift and Force Pumps. They are now turning out 1,500 Pumps per week, which range in price from $3 00 to $400, employing 150 hands in the business. John A. Rumsey has recently patented an improved galvanized non-corrosive cast Iron Pump, which is safe from rust. An improved Hand Fire Engine of great efficiency is also on their list. The machinery in Rumsey & Co's Factory is of the most efficient kind, much of it being of their own invention, and is driven by an unfailing water power. They are now building a new factory 84x42 feet, 4 stories. When this is completed they will increase their working force to 250 hands. The business carried on by this firm was established by Rumsey about 30 years ago."—Iron Age, New York.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned and placed on their guard against this practice.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Absence

The April sunshine soft and fair
Touches the [illegible] we cherish
Wild violets scent the warm sweet air
But ever through the bright spring hours,
The sunset [illegible] and the [illegible] flowers
My spirit hungers to be fed
And faints for love's dear daily bread
Yearning, beloved, for thee

The day wears on, the evening hour
Comes up across the misty lea;
I watch the stars as one by one
They glimmer out, my eyes are wet
My heart is filled with vague regret
Haunting it like a sad refrain
I cannot still this restless pain
Thinking, beloved, of thee

The twilight deepens, brooding sleep
Shadows the green earth tenderly
The house lies hushed in slumber deep
The peace of heaven seems strangely near
I kneel beneath the moonbeams clear
And soft upon the troubled breast
Comes down a blessed sense of rest
Praying, beloved, for thee

To Live or Die

[From the N Y Times]

The Democrats have at length quite satisfied themselves of one important fact, namely, that the mission of the Republican party is fully accomplished, and that hereafter it has neither a cause to excite enthusiasm in its favor, nor principle to give it vitality. This is the way in which some politicians are prone to speculate on the chapter of accidents as affecting their rivals. They say of a man who is a stumbling block in their path, "He is getting old, and cannot last very long. Besides he has finished the work on which he set his heart, and now there is nothing else left for him to undertake." When the rival happens to be a true man, and not a makeshift, this kind of prophecy always ends in the disappointment of those who indulge in it. A man's life is never over until he is dead, and a political party never dies except by its own hands.

The Democratic plans for the future foreshadow a policy which nothing but our Republican organization can effectually frustrate. We are identified with an honorable payment of the debt, and with the cause of good and impartial government all over the country. But, besides the programme which could be sketched out to-day, there are all unknown possibilities of the future to rebuke the reckless proposal to dissolve the party. In politics, no less than other affairs of life, no man can tell what the morrow may bring forth. We only know from all past experience, and all analogy, that as one great question is "settled" another will arise before us. Was the mission of the English Liberal party accomplished when it reformed Parliament in 1832, or when it abolished the Corn laws, or when it decreed the disestablishment of the Irish Church? Is it ever at a loss for a subject on which to fight the Tories—or is not rather the [illegible] of such subjects so great that no living man can hope to deal with them all? The case is precisely the same with us. We have settled the slavery question, and are on the eve of closing the whole subject of reconstruction—but will no other events occur in the United States after that? Are the principles which brought the party into being now all withered and lifeless?

Every man who looks around him will answer, No. The Democrats are for reversing most of the legislation of the last five years—they say in their hearts, "Wait till we get into power, and then see how soon we will undo all that the Radicals have done." We are in the position of a man who has built and furnished a noble mansion, and who is advised by his friends to leave it totally unguarded, after being warned that his enemies have completed a plot for seizing it. We have to defend the work of our hands. It would be act of treachery without parallel in party history if we Republicans, as a party, now retired from the strife and allowed our foes to remain masters of the national destinies. All the evils of the past would be repeated in a still more disastrous shape. We should have made almost superhuman sacrifices for nothing, and shamefully betrayed that large section of the people who confided their interests to us. The last state of such a people would be worse than the first. But the Republicans, notwithstanding the advice of [illegible], would never consent to this infatuated piece of perfidy. They will strive, rather, to render their organization more perfect, and more worthy of the great issues which will inevitably present themselves for settlement in the future.

Wonderful Discovery in Indiana

A PETRIFIED SERPENT ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY FEET BELOW THE EARTH'S SURFACE—A SHOE [illegible] EXHUMED.

[From the Sullivan Union.]

One of the most singular and wonderful discoveries of the age was made in the Currysville coal mines a few days ago. At a depth of one hundred and eighty feet, while the [illegible] was cutting through a slate stone, they discovered the petrified body of a serpent. We [illegible] this petrification, and can say with truth, that it is the finest specimen we ever saw. Unfortunately it was broken [illegible] placed, and a piece from near the center is missing—perhaps thrown out in a [illegible] of stone. A limb had evidently fallen across the serpent about eight or ten inches from the head and crushed the part underneath flat, and strange to say, even this thin part was turned into solid stone, and was taken out perfect. The wrinkles in the body of the serpent, in all its writhing as if to extricate itself from the stick that fell across it, were as perfect and natural as the day the affair took place. The head is shaped like that of an eel, and the tail, from indications, must have been supplied with a broad fin or a flat fleshy substance, as a propeller. The eyes and mouth can be distinctly traced, while the body is covered with small sunken spots, similar to those on a hog-skin, though not so small or numerous. This specimen is five feet three inches long and very [illegible] ten inches around the largest part of the body.

In addition to this most singular curiosity, perfect impressions of leaves, limbs, brush and other samples of vegetation were taken out at this enormous depth. Among these was a beautiful impression of what is familiarly called snake weed, or fern, which grows in almost every valley throughout the Western country.

The most singular specimen is yet to be described, and in attempting to communicate to our readers, we feel as though the history of our earth is just as much a mystery to the present generation as to those who inhabited it before the flood—the "half having yet been told." The sole of a shoe or sandal, was taken out in a complete state of petrification. The heel is almost perfect, and the impression of something in the heel resembling tacks or nails, is plain and distinct. This specimen is about eight inches long and of the usual width.

When this discovery is seriously considered, in connection with the general formation of the earth for a circumference of between seventy and eighty miles around—there not being a hill of any material height—not a ravine of a depth worthy of remark—not a cavern and the Wabash the largest stream within this scope, and the earth almost level, and thickly and heavily timbered, what mind can go down into the bowels of the earth one hundred and eighty feet beneath the firmly rooted, aged oaks of the forest, and solve the mystery there unfolded?

A correspondent of the Lewiston (Maine) Journal says a singular phenomenon occurred recently in the field of John Gould Jr., in Lisbon. A loud noise was heard in the vicinity, on the same day the shock of earthquake was experienced at Richmond. People rushed out of doors and looked around to discover the cause of the noise, but nothing unusual was to be seen. Since then, it has been found that a large mass of earth has been lifted from its place, in Mr Gould's field, by some unknown power. The earth removed is nearly in the form of a parallelogram on the surface. It is about twelve feet long and four feet wide, is fully a foot thick, or to the depth of the frost. It is as regular, and the corners as well defined as though cut by a saw, and was thrown out, apparently, by some tremendous power exerted on all parts alike, and it was deposited "right side up" half its width from the place it formerly occupied. The ground one side of the hole is puffed up about six inches, to the rising land, about a rod distant.

FINANCIAL ADVENTURERS The Atlantic Monthly for March says

Many of the present rulers of Wall street have been in very different callings. They have been cattle drivers, ferrymen, shoemakers, peddlers and horse jockeys. They have extraordinary ability of a certain kind, understand human nature, and believe in the commercial advantage of unscrupulousness. The financial magnates are more adventurous now than they ever were before. Each month seems to render them more reckless and unprincipled, more dishonest actually. Jacob Little used to make country people stare by the magnitude of his operations and the suddenness of his combinations, but he never forfeited his reputation for financial integrity, and never dreamed of doing what is now done in Wall street almost daily without compunction or criticism.

Speculation in the banking quarter means making money by any means that will not lead to the penitentiary. By success they are preserved from the necessity of offending in the common way, and are able to dictate the terms of fortune. Early failure would have changed the entire current of their lives.

Yet how few of the financial adventurers have any permanent success! Those who were powers and radiating influences ten or twelve years ago have sunk out of sight and are forgotten now. Hardly a great name on the Stock Exchange to-day had been heard of twenty years ago, and the monetary kings of the present will be uncrowned and throneless before the eighth decade of the century has past. They rise and fall with the rapidity of revolutionary heroes in Mexico or South America, and, once down, the most sensitive echo does not murmur that they have ever been. They are used as pawns by the great players who let them stand or move them about for a while, then exchange them as the game grows interesting, or sweep them ruthlessly from the board.

They learn nothing by experience. Each one fancies himself wiser than his predecessor, trusts his thought and his destiny more, and yet is ruined in exactly the same way. Some subtle law of temperament deters them from following uniform courses for any length of time. They seem to become victims of what might be called great moral surprises. They lie down honest in intention, and bent upon duty. They awake in the morning or out of a midnight dream, in the midst of a spiritual revolution, and the rebels of their constitution beat down the guards of their strongest purpose.

Their hopefulness is always beyond their executive capacity, and their intense desires strangle their conscientiousness. However much they may be in the dark to-day, they fondly believe they will be in the full tide of radiance to-morrow. They are not wholly dishonest by any means, they simply have an elastic code of morals, and stretch or contract it to suit their passing interest.

IN PRAISE OF JENKINS —The amenities of journalism, as between British and American papers, have never been more sweetly or touchingly exhibited than in the Pall Mall Gazette on Jenkins, in the matter of Prince Arthur's call at the White House. Referring to the account given by the Washington correspondent of a New York daily paper, of the Prince in the outer hall about to depart and being "assisted into his overcoat by the President's valet," the Pall Mall Gazette says

Can we imagine the possibility of any serious disagreement arising between two nations when the valet of the President of one helps a Prince of blood royal of the other into his overcoat? Never did valet perform a nobler mission than the Republican Jeames when he thus assisted a Prince, never did Prince honor himself more than in thus gracefully accepting such assistance. If the two, the Prince and the valet could have looked beyond the mysterious film which shrouds our limited vision, they would have seen the Angel of Peace smiling through tears of joy at the scene in the President's vestibule—but not between husbands and fathers and brothers in oceans of blood diluted with the tears of the widow and the orphan. Only a struggle to get into an overcoat, one party playfully assisting the other—first the right arm, then the left. It is over now; but the buttons of that overcoat have linked two mighty nations together, and who will dare to unstitch those links of love forged by the President's valet and our Arthur?

A MAN SELLS HIS WIFE, AND THE SHERIFF INTERFERES —We learn from the Forest City (Mo.) Independent that on the 23d ult., Deputy Sheriff Wolf of Holt county, arrested and locked up a man named Wake, who was indicted on the charge of adultery at the last sitting of the grand jury in that county. It appears that an old man married a young girl for his second wife. Old man and young wife didn't live in perfect bliss. Their ways were not always smooth. Old man was in partnership with young Wake in the peaceful pursuits of farming. The young man being possessed of enterprise and of a disposition for trading, proposed to buy the whole outfit. A bargain was struck, and an inventory of the property was taken. Among numerous other articles the old man's wife was invoiced to the enterprising purchaser for five dollars. Everything seemed satisfactory, until the grand jury interfered with the matter, and the officer of the law lodged the young farmer in jail, to await his trial at the next sitting of the court. We opine that some curious things will come to light on that trial. Perhaps the young man was swindled by an older head and paid too much for his purchase. We hear the property wife has been arrested and sent up for trial also. Old man got his money and laughs.

Notice has been given by the authorities of the Land office at Boise City, that the public lands in the Bruneau river valley has been surveyed, and is now subject to entry. The Bruneau is said to be a very fine valley, having rich soil and a mild climate.

Capt Cahalin [illegible] from San Francisco [illegible] shipping by the bark Webfoot 100 000 shaved hoop poles.

We learn from the country that the last few days fine weather has enabled farmers and gardeners to resume their work of seeding and preparing for putting in their crops, and that they are generally taking advantage of the opportunity. Should the drying weather continue for a few days we may expect better supplies of vegetables for which there is just now a great want.

The bark Webfoot has completed the discharge of her cargo and is now taking in freight for San Francisco.

Mining Intelligence

The La Grande Democrat learns from a man just in from El Dorado, that there is at present no frost in the ground and when he left Kirkpatrick & Goodwin had landed bringing in water by their ditch immediately. As before reported there will be no water brought into camp by the Burnt River Ditch before the 15th of April. Where this ditch strikes Camp Creek the snow is 8 feet in depth. All prospecting done this spring has been attended with encouraging results and it is the general impression that there will be more gold taken out this season than the three seasons before. The [illegible] hydraulic already and are awaiting the coming of water to commence work. The [illegible] is going [illegible] quite lively, and the roads are in fine condition.

Mr Kelly on [illegible] river has struck it rich [illegible] miles below Sclsley's toll gate. He has lately prospected a claim and from it now takes no less than a dollar to the pan of dirt and very often washes out as high as three and four dollars to the same amount of earth.

Messrs Carter & Walters from Eagle Creek have some very fine quartz from their ledge, a late discovery, six pounds of which, pounded in a hand mortar yielded fifty two dollars.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by a scientific mode of treatment, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, in a registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates, impose the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became the [illegible] to work at their trades. [illegible] newspaper [illegible] intelligence [illegible] [illegible] the San Francisco [illegible] will not find their Medical Institutes in it [illegible] lectures for 1862 and 1863. [illegible] what they are. Dr Gibbon [illegible] letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, near Commercial (Private Entrance on Commercial St.) San Francisco. Post Office Box 251.
